The tone was much better all day than

col. Jim Jones, once the lieutenant of ex-Senator Hill, and who has been in politics for thirty years, called on Col. McClellan and helped him outline his attack on Gen. Greene.

After the conference Col Jones told the reporters what he had told Col. McClellan and which will soon be emblaioned on Tammany campaign literature. He said that the Barber Asphalt Company deliberately stole the original patents of Gen. W. W. Averilla, which covered the only successful invention of asphalt paving ever made. Twenty-tone of asphalt paving ever made. St. Paul was not as buoyant as some of the others, but it was noticeable that every effort to sell it down was checked quickly by good buying. Southern, which has been weak for some time, was well supported and closed with a good gain.

The industrials which have been most under pressure during the last month were those which made, the most gains during the day.

There is said to be a large short interest in Sugar, which was created when there was talk of a trade war, and it is believed that the insiders who have loaned the stock will call these loans and give the shorts a hard squeeze.

Among the buyers during the day were brokers who usually act for the Rockefelier, Morgan, Keene, Harriman, Havemeyer and Waldorf-Astoria crowd. Jacob Field, who has been a bear for some time, was also a heavy buyer, and bid up stocks all around the room. The buying of bonds was of the best character.

> Agnes Booth will return to the stage at the Academy of Music Tuesday evening, when Manager Charles Frobman will offer another big English drama, "The Best of Friends," which comes with the prestige of great success at the Drury Lane. It also has the reputation of being the best play written by Ceoil Raleigh, an adept at this style of play. There are glimpse of war, revelations of circus life, the and an abundance of humor. Young Lionel Barrymore will impersonate a Boer general sixty-five years old. Others in the cast will be Joseph Wheelock, jr., Miss Ray Rockman, a California girl who has been playing in Henry Irving's company in Lon-don; Katharine Grey, Ralph Delmore Richard Bennett and Frank Burbeck.

Mrs. Osborne's Play-House, in Forty fourth street, will on Wedne fourth street, will on Wednesday even-ing be reopened as the Vaudeville present the Danish-Parisian actress, Mme. Charlotte Wiehe, supported by a French company. This will be Mme. Wiehe's first appearance in New York City. She comes with a great reputation of being as clever in pantomime as she is in comedy, and of being likewise a good singer and fine danger. The company will remain permanently at the Vaudeville and support other French stars whom Mr.

Frohman will import. The opening programme at the Vaudeville will include four playlets: "Gros Chagrin," a play in one act by M. G. Courtelone: "La Main," a melodrama or play without words, in one act, by Henri Bereny; "Souper d'Adjeu," a comedy in one act, by Arthur Schnitzler, and "L'Homms aux Poupees," a pautoupport other French stars whom Mr.

French will be spoken in all the plays. William Collier will "try again" the Bijou Theatre Thursday night, this time with that clever farce by George H. Broadhurst, "A Fool and Him Money." which was a success last season at the Madison Square Theatre. The play was written originally for Mr. Collier, and many of the lines were taken verbatim from the comedian's lips. The part of the slaver was also written for Louise Allen, who will now play it. The company will include George Nash, John Sae ville, Marion Abbott, Wallace Mac-Cutcheon, Hugo Toland, Jane Dears, Anita Bridges, Eleanore Allen, Edna, Faron, Leo Hawley, Harold Cham-bers, Mabel Dixey, Mary Davenport, and George Henry Trader.

At the Grand Opera House David Warfield will make his final New York appearance in "The Auctioneer." This engagement will also mark the doom of melodrama at the Grand, as Manager Springer is convinced that Broadway productions at reasonable prices ere best approciated on Eighth avenue.

A QUAINT LITTLE, ODD LITTLE TOWN

Do you read the famous "Chronicles of World Want Town" the are appearing in the Morning World each day?

These chronicles are a series of the teresting little stories told in interesting little rhymes and illustrated by quaint and interesting pictures. They tell of the doings of the quaint World-Want Town folk, people who never want long for anything and are as happy as the day

And they are no less happy been Cause the days are growing shorter.
This odd little town is built of "columns and rules." One of the columns of which the town is built.

is The World's "Business Opposetunity" column.

Another is the "For Sale" column.

And still another is the "Goodwill. Interest, For Sale" column. In these three columns this morn ing The World prints 94 ads.
